

FURUTECH

AVGuide.com (USA)

ADL GT40 Review

February 2012

ADL GT40 DAC/Headphone Amp & More (Playback 53)

Jack-of-All-Trades and Masterful, Too

The GT40 is a Jack-of-All-Trades and Masterful Too Reports AVGuide.com

“The GT40 might arguably be the most versatile, performance-oriented desktop audio component any of us have yet seen. It packs an awful lot of functionality into a chassis not much larger than a medium-sized paperback book... There is a certain suave, sophisticated quality to the GT40’s overall presentation that creates the sense that music simply flows freely out of the little silver box in an effortless, unconstrained way (this in contrast to some moderately priced amp/DAC combos that sound—in subtle ways, of course—as if they are “working hard” to do the things that they do)... Read the full reviews here and another here!